

Professional Development

Economic Development is a broad and diverse field requiring many areas of expertise. PEDAs provides conferences, seminars, workshops and other educational opportunities for economic development professionals and their partners to enhance their professional knowledge and expertise. By providing educational opportunities at all levels, PEDAs supports those who are new to the profession and those who have been in the field for many years.

PEDA provides educational programs relevant to our economic development partners in local government and business.

PEDA also strives to provide educational programs that are relevant to our economic development partners in local government and business.

Professional growth and development is actively overseen by the Professional Development Committee. The committee produces an annual professional development series addressing a wide array of economic development topics. This series utilizes a mix of peer to peer and nationally recognized professional instructors to bring the most relevant educational curriculum to practitioners.

PEDA also partners with other statewide and national organizations to expand economic development training opportunities.
